Lisa Guerrero

HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

“My mission in life is not merely to survive, but to thrive; and to do so with some passion, some compassion, some humor, and some style.”

Maya Angelou

Lisa Guerrero is a San Antonio College graduate who majored in human resources management. As a returning student who has had to overcome many obstacles in life, she finally found herself back at San Antonio College in the fall of 2021.

Lisa attributes successfully getting to the finish line to all the people she has had the pleasure of working with while at San Antonio College, most importantly the Honors Academy, which was her home away from home. She would love to thank Laurie Coleman and Norma Ramirez for always being there for her and being amazing mentors these past three years.

Lisa was accepted into Texas A&M University at San Antonio last fall, and this past year, she has been dual enrolled at both colleges, where she is obtaining a BBA with an emphasis in human resources management.

After receiving her BBA, Lisa plans to transfer to UTSA for her graduate studies in higher education. Her goal is to one day return to the Alamo Colleges and work with students who may have once been in her shoes.

Lisa would like to thank her family for being her biggest supporters. To her children who, without them, she would have never even gone to school, thank you. To her husband, who saw the good, the bad and the ugly, thank you. To San Antonio College & the Alamo Colleges District, thank you!
